Saint-Guilhem-le-Désert (IG)

La spécificité climatique de la zone a conduit les vignerons à rechercher une adaptation optimale des cépages à leur terroir. Le caractère tardif du climat et les fortes amplitudes de températures permettent tant pour les cépages méditerranéens que pour les cépages plus récemment implantés, une maturation lente et régulière favorable à la qualité des polyphénols pour les vins rouges et à la puissance et la finesse aromatique pour les vins rosés et blancs. L'ensemble des vins, qu'ils soient de mise en marché rapide ou de garde, ont ainsi une typicité marquée.

Le vignoble, composé de parcelles de faible dimension, est installé majoritairement sur des zones de coteaux calcaires très caractéristiques dans la région qui limitent naturellement la vigueur et favorisent un enracinement profond permettant à la vigne de résister à la sécheresse estivale. Il s'insère souvent dans des espaces naturels faisant l'objet de protections environnementales. Les vignes confèrent à ce territoire une qualité paysagère particulière très réputée et reconnue au niveau touristique. Ces aspects mobilisent aujourd'hui les vignerons, dont la valorisation des vins passe d'abord par la protection de leurs terroirs de production, en lien avec le développement de l'œnotourisme.

Une synergie s'opère ainsi entre les vignerons et les visiteurs du site de l'abbaye de Saint-Guilhem le désert (environ 800 000 personnes par an), en favorisant l'activité économique de l'arrière-pays héraultais.

Le nom de Saint-Guilhem-le-désert, associé tant à l'histoire millénaire de l'abbaye que des vins produits avec IGP, assure dorénavant un rayonnement important en dehors de la France.

Additional requirements under Rule 5(3) of Common Regulations under the Lisbon Agreement and the Geneva Act - Particulars concerning the quality, reputation or characteristics

Saint-Guilhem-le-Désert (GI)

The area has a very particular climate which has led wine-growers to seek the very best ways of adapting the varieties to their land. The prolonged nature of the climate and the significant temperature variations mean that both the Mediterranean varieties and those planted more recently can ripen slowly and evenly. This has a positive effect on the quality of the polyphenols for the red wines and the intensity and aromatic finesse of the rosé and white wines. All of the wines therefore have a notable typicity, whether they are placed on the market immediately or are to be kept.

The vineyards are made up of small parcels. They are mainly planted in areas of limestone slopes, highly characteristic of the region. The terrain naturally limits vine vigour allowing roots to penetrate deeply so that the vines can withstand the summer drought. The vineyards are often in natural areas subject to environmental protection. The vines create a very particular landscape in the area that is well-known and appreciated by tourists. Today, these features are incentives to the wine-growers. For them, producing the best wines starts with protecting their production areas, in conjunction with developing wine tourism.

There is therefore a synergy between the wine-growers and visitors to the Abbey of Saint-Guilhem-le-Désert, the latter numbering some 800 000 a year. Together they boost the economic activity of the inland area of Hérault.

The name of Saint-Guilhem-le-Désert is associated both with the abbey and its centuries of history, and with the PGI wines. These days, it enjoys significant standing outside of France.

Requisitos adicionales con arreglo a la regla 5, apartado 3, del Reglamento Común en virtud del Arreglo de Lisboa y del Acta de Ginebra - Detalles acerca de la calidad, la reputación o las características

Saint-Guilhem-le-Désert (IG)

La especificidad climática de la zona ha llevado a los viticultores a buscar una adaptación óptima de las variedades de vid a su territorio. El carácter tardío del clima y las fuertes oscilaciones de temperatura permiten, tanto para las variedades mediterráneas como para las variedades de uva implantadas más recientemente, una maduración lenta y regular que potencia la calidad de los polifenoles de los vinos tintos y la intensidad y finura aromática de los vinos rosados y blancos. De este modo, todos los vinos, ya sean de comercialización rápida o de guarda, tienen un conjunto de características propias.

El viñedo, compuesto por parcelas de pequeño tamaño, se instala mayoritariamente en zonas de laderas calcáreas muy características en la zona que limitan la exuberancia de forma natural y favorecen un enraizamiento profundo que permite a la vid resistir la sequía estival. A menudo se inserta en espacios naturales protegidos desde el punto de vista medioambiental. Las viñas confieren a este territorio una calidad paisajística especial que goza de gran reputación y reconocimiento a nivel turístico. Estos aspectos movilizan hoy a los viticultores, cuya valorización de los vinos pasa, en primer lugar, por la protección de sus territorios de producción, en relación con el desarrollo del enoturismo.

De este modo, existe una sinergia entre los viticultores y los visitantes de la abadía de Saint-Guilhem-le-Désert (alrededor de 800 000 personas al año), lo que favorece la actividad económica tierra adentro de la región de Hérault.

El nombre de Saint-Guilhem-le-Désert, asociado tanto a la historia milenaria de la abadía como a los vinos producidos con IGP, garantiza en lo sucesivo una difusión notable fuera de Francia.

Périgord (IG)

Les liens historiques et culturels avec le grand voisin bordelais ont marqué le vignoble du Périgord. S'il y a une continuité géomorphologique et climatique, il y a aussi une continuité culturelle et l'encépagement est constitué par les mêmes cépages aquitains.

Les liens commerciaux ont permis de maintenir un dialogue et un échange de savoir-faire entre les deux communautés viticoles voisines.

La production totale des vins de pays du département de la Dordogne est réalisée par 25 producteurs dont 6 caves-coopératives et elle représente en moyenne 8500 hectolitres de vins rouges et rosés et 2500 hectolitres de vins blancs.

Les vins du Périgord tirent leur expression des plateaux calcaires où les vignes sont majoritairement implantées. Ces sols bénéficient de capacités drainantes qui favorisent l'expression de vins blancs et rosés, frais, dotés d'un bon degré d'acidité. Le bon régime hydrique des sols associé aux influences océaniques permettent une bonne maturité phénolique des raisins et ainsi, l'expression de vins rouges marqués par leurs tanins.

L'influence de la Vallée de la Dordogne ouverte sur une influence océanique plus marquée confère aux vins bénéficiant de la mention « vin de Domme » plus de souplesse et de fruité. Jouissant d'une réputation ancienne, les vins du Périgord et de Domme bénéficient également de l'activité touristique qui gravite autour du site exceptionnel tout proche de la bastide médiévale de Sarlat, accueillant près de 2 millions de visiteurs par an et dans laquelle sont tournés de nombreux films historiques.

Aux côtés des autres produits de la gastronomie locale : la noix, la fraise, la châtaigne mais aussi le cabécou et l'agneau sans oublier la truffe et les cèpes, les vins du Périgord contribuent à la renommée de cette région touristique.

Additional requirements under Rule 5(3) of Common Regulations under the Lisbon Agreement and the Geneva Act - Particulars concerning the quality, reputation or characteristics
Périgord (GI)

Historical and cultural links with the great Bordeaux neighbour have left their mark on the Périgord vineyards. While there is geomorphological and climatic continuity, there is also cultural continuity, with the same Aquitaine grape varieties being planted.

Trade links have helped to maintain a dialogue and an exchange of know-how between the two neighbouring wine-producing communities.

Total production of vins de pays in the Dordogne department is carried out by 25 producers, including 6 caves-coopératives, and represents an average of 8,500 hectolitres of red and rosé wines and 2,500 hectolitres of white wines.

The wines of the Périgord draw their expression from the limestone plateaux where the majority of the vines are planted. These soils drain well, producing fresh white and rosé wines with a good level of acidity. The good water regime of the soils, combined with the oceanic influences, means that the grapes ripen well phenologically, resulting in red wines that are marked by their tannins.

The influence of the Dordogne Valley, which is open to a more marked oceanic influence, gives the wines bearing the "Vin de Domme" label greater suppleness and fruitiness.

Enjoying a long-standing reputation, Périgord and Domme wines also benefit from the tourist activity that revolves around the nearby exceptional medieval bastide town of Sarlat, which welcomes almost 2 million visitors a year and is the setting for many historic films.

Alongside other local gastronomic products: walnuts, strawberries, chestnuts, cabécou and lamb, not forgetting truffles and ceps, Périgord wines contribute to the reputation of this tourist region.

Requisitos adicionales con arreglo a la regla 5, apartado 3, del Reglamento Común en virtud del Arreglo de Lisboa y del Acta de Ginebra - Detalles acerca de la calidad, la reputación o las características

Périgord (IG)

Los vínculos históricos y culturales con el gran vecino bordelés han dejado su huella en los viñedos del Périgord. Si existe una continuidad geomorfológica y climática, también existe una continuidad cultural, ya que se plantan las mismas variedades de uva de Aquitania.

Los vínculos comerciales han contribuido a mantener un diálogo y un intercambio de conocimientos entre las dos comunidades vitícolas vecinas.

La producción total de vins de pays del departamento de Dordoña corre a cargo de 25 productores, entre ellos 6 caves-coopératives, y representa una media de 8.500 hectolitros de vinos tintos y rosados y 2.500 hectolitros de vinos blancos.

Los vinos del Périgord se expresan en las mesetas calcáreas donde están plantadas la mayoría de las vides. Estos suelos drenan bien y producen vinos blancos y rosados frescos con un buen nivel de acidez. El buen régimen hídrico de los suelos, combinado con las influencias oceánicas, hace que las uvas maduren bien fenólicamente, dando lugar a vinos tintos marcados por sus taninos.

La influencia del valle del Dordoña, abierto a una influencia oceánica más marcada, confiere a los vinos que llevan la etiqueta "Vin de Domme" una mayor flexibilidad y frutalidad.

Los vinos del Périgord y del Domme, que gozan de una larga reputación, también se benefician de la actividad turística que gira en torno a la cercana y excepcional ciudad bastida medieval de Sarlat, que recibe cerca de 2 millones de visitantes al año y es escenario de numerosas películas históricas.

Junto a otros productos gastronómicos locales: nueces, fresas, castañas, cabécou y cordero, sin olvidar las trufas y los ceps, los vinos del Périgord contribuyen a la reputación de esta región turística.
