- (57) Disclosed are an early-warning system, method, and apparatus for steering of a two-wheeled vehicle, and a corresponding two-wheeled vehicle, the two-wheeled vehicle including a display apparatus. The system includes: a first control system and a second control system both operating independently and capable of exchanging data between each other in real time; the first control system is configured to: monitor a steering state of the two-wheeled vehicle in real time and generate steering state data; generate early-warning state data based on the steering state data; transmit at least part of the steering state data and the early-warning state data to the second control system in real time; and control corresponding components of the two-wheeled vehicle to operate according to control instructions received from the second control system and internal preset instructions; and the second control system is configured to: receive the steering state data and the early-warning state data transmitted by the first control system; generate early-warning information based on the early-warning state data, and control a display of the display apparatus based on the steering state data and/or the early-warning information. The present application can give an early warning to a driver when steering the two-wheeled vehicle, to accurately provide the driver with a safe operation prompt, to improve the user's driving safety and enhance the user experience..

(54) HIGH-STRENGTH ROAD FOR WATER RESOTIRCE REGULATION SYSTEM IN RESPONSE TO CLIMATE CHANGE

(57) A high-strength road for a water resource regulation system in response to climate change. An underground structural space (30) is formed by a structural system formwork (31), which is provided with a hollow unit body (30a), by means of grouting and solidiffing concrete grout (302), and the high-strength road is formed by paving a road or a pavement (10) over the underground structural space (30). The hollow unit body (30a) is at least provided with a sffuctural formwork (31) and is formed by means of combining a plurality of side slabs (32). An upper surface of the formwork (31) is provided with a plate (312), which is provided with a through hole (311) and at least one through pipe (33). After the structural system formwork (31) and the side slabs (312) arecombined, the concrete grout (302) is grouted and solidifies to form the underground structural space (30) with a high support strength.

(57) A combined blade device and a combined air outlet device are disclosed. The combined blade device (100) includes a hub (110), diagonal flow blades (120), and centrifugal blades (130), where a first air inlet (140) is formed outside an edge of a first end of the hub (110), and a first air outlet (150) is formed outside an edge of a second end of the hub (110), the hub (110) is internally provided with a centrifugal cavity (111), the first end of the hub (110) is provided with a second air inlet (112), the first air inlet (140) surrounds the second air inlet (112), the second end of the hub (110) is provided with a second air outlet (113), both the second air inlet (112) and the second air outlet (113) are communicated with the centrifugal cavity (111), and the hub (110) expands gradually in a direction from the second air inlet (112) to the second air outlet (113); the diagonal flow blades (120) are connected to one side of the hub (110) that is away from the centrifugal cavity (111); and the centrifugal blades (130) are connected to the hub (110) and located in the centrifugal cavity (111), and rotating axes of diagonal flow blades (120) and the centrifugal blades (130) coincide with each other. The combined blade device can make full use of the air inlet area at the air inlet side of the hub to increase the air inlet volume and improve the air pressure and air volume of the air outlet device..
